At an organizational meeting of the Civil Service Board Tuesday night, Russell Tucker was elected board chairman for a three year term. Mr. Tucker has served as a board member the past year.

Population Grows

Yes, Belle Glade is growing! L. L. Price, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce reports they have assisted 27 new families to find housing in our city from August 1 thru 20. This is over one family a day, and many are coming in who locate housing thru other channels.

"It's rough," Mr. Price said, "as we have only small apartments listed now and many need larger living quarters."

Persistence And Growing Need Assure Own Water Plant For South Bay Area

Mayor A. R. Grigsby of South Bay says: "The calling for bids on water line pipes marks the first concrete action securing Lake Okechobee water to the citizens of South Bay and area through our own plant and our own distribution system."

3 "In Cooler"

First Profit Good On Copper Wire

Glades Chief Deputy Sheriff Vern Clark reports that approximately five tons of copper wire has been sold to a dealer in Ft. Lauderdale, and he has three South Bay residents in the "cooler" with possible charges of grand larceny.

The three, Lester Lovely, Reginald Clark and Clifford West, apparently have been cutting line wires from alongside the railroad and disposing of it for 20¢ per pound.

Other thefts of copper from packinghouses and shops in the community have not yet been definitely connected with the first activities.

Of course the dealer who purchased the wire didn't know it was stolen -- maybe he figured the boys had a special system of making it in the Glades.

Glades Correctional Institution Entertained Jaycees At Dinner

The Belle Glade Jaycees were entertained Thursday night at a dinner and program by the Glades Correctional Institution. Approximately 25 attended with Charles Stewart, president of the Pompano Beach Jaycees and three members as guests.

A hearty and delicious dinner was served consisting of breaded cubed steak and pan gravy, baked potatoes, buttered corn, creamed peas, lettuce salad with French dressing, hot rolls and butter, olives, pickles, cake, coffee or grapeade.

Institutional personnel present were W. L. McCormick, educational director and A. P. Cook, recreation director, who were acting as hosts; L. P. Patton, assistant Supr. H. L. Davis, personnel, Chas. O. Duxbury, business manager, and a member of the Jaycees.

A musical program was presented as follows: The Gospel Keys, gave selections: Working on the Building, Mary Don't You Weep, and Travelin' Shoes; a medley of songs with Hampton S. Reeves at the piano; Selections by The Bosanovs: Lady Luck, Happy Days, The Letter; Tap Dance by David Taylor and selections by Harold Kemp: What is Love, Misty and Theme from Exodus.

The guests thoroughly enjoyed the program and said outstanding talent was displayed, some of which was terrific. It was learned that musical instruments of any kind are needed and could be fixed up, so they were more than willing to help.

L. P. Patton gave an informative talk on the history of the penal institution starting 400 years ago at St. Augustine down through to the present time. He said the Glades Institution had 2500 acres of muck land with 2500 in farm land and rest in active use, 4800 acres at 20 miles bend with 1600 acres in ranch land; 2500 acres at Arcadia all owned by Glades Institution.

Mr. McCormick told the group the institution is a 500 man minimum.

Belle Glade made it possible to let the Junior High students during the recent years, but the growth of Belle Glade makes it a problem a care for it's own needs and monthly increased demand we have here."

If we expect to take full advantage of the opportunities brought to the Glades, South Bay must be able to meet demands for water by a new business coming here."

We hope shortly to give the public more information about exact facilities planned by the engineers and possible dates of construction."

"We have sufficient information thru feasibility reports, to know that expanded and full supply of water will not require any valorem taxes -- the revenue produced from users will amply finance the project."

The Jaycees-entitled eligibles to register at the Fire Station Saturday with a band, and several assistants to help City Clerk Vera Jones and Registrar Rene Lee to render prompt service to the 203 who did add their names to the eligible list.

More And Better Water -- And Sewerage!

On the ballot for September 10th there will be the question of issuing additional bonds for extending the raw water line into the Lake where almost colorless and uncontaminated water will be brought into the treatment plant.

Also, in the same election will be the question of extending sewerage to 95 percent of the residents of the City.

Information to date is that all financing will be on revenue bonds, and no increase in water rates is contemplated, nor any hike in sewerage rates will be necessary.

To get the type of water we deserve as residents on the shores of Lake Okechobee will cost us no more than we are paying at present -- it'll be the BEST in South Florida.

the Rev. Luther Key, chairman of the survey and census committee, made the announcement this week.

For some time the members of the ministerial association have been concerned about the great number of persons in Belle Glade who are not affiliated with any of the churches in the community. They are sympathetic to this special problem of a community which is experiencing such rapid growth as this city with the constant influx of new families, uprooted from their old established communities and ways of life. It is estimated that less than 50 percent of the adult population of Belle Glade is affiliated and active in the work and life of the churches in this area.

The purpose of the survey and census will be to locate these "unaffiliated" folk and to invite them personally to join the church of their choice. The survey and census is a nondenominational undertaking and the persons contacted will be asked to state their religious affiliation, or if they are not affiliated with one of the churches in the community, to state their denominational preference.

The sole object of the survey and census is to help the churches in the community to better minister to the people of Belle Glade.

DO YOU EVER WONDER

1. Why do members of the Church of Christ wear the name Christians? Acts 11:26; 1 Peter 4:16; Acts 26:28.
2. Why do the Churches of Christ teach that there is only one church? Ephesians 1:22, 23; 4:4; 1 Corinthians 12:20.
3. Where is our authority that all the saved are in the church? Acts 2:47; Ephesians 5:23.
4. Why do we teach that both faith and baptism are essential to salvation? Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38; Ephesians 5:19; Colossians 2:12.
5. Why do we use vocal music in the worship of God? Acts 16:25; Ephesians 5:19; Colossians 3:16.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Fast to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The word "hobby" covers a multitude of activities. And minor sins like reading murder mysteries. At the risk of rousing an anti-murder Mystery crusade, we introduce the vice as a hobby position, along with two other interesting things to do. Boys and girls, these are meant for you!

Alfred Hitchcock's Ghostly Gallery.

Junior mystery fans, take note. This one is spooky fun to read, and better written than most mysteries your parents have graduated to. May be ghost stories, and murder mysteries, do not really belong in the same class but the same people read them. Franklin Roosevelt read both by the shelfload.

Some of these stories are recent, some as old as Robert Louis Stevenson. Eleven in all, they range from horror in a wax museum, to humor in a gentleman's club house.

Raising tropical fish (REAL tropical fish) is fascinating. Just sitting and watching their movements can be as entertaining as viewing color TV. The intricacies of feeding, breeding and exhibiting them are a challenge.

"No Unemployment—Two Workers For Each Job!"

Hotel Tbilisi
Georgia, USSR
Tuesday, Aug. 6, 1963

An experience today long to be remembered!

We visited the "Stalin" Collective farm of 2600 hectares, or 6500 acres, in a valley of the Caucasus mountains, 90 kilometers north and west of Tbilisi, in two buses.

There are 740 workers on this farm, under a manager and council elected by the farmers who meet four times a year. Elections are good for two years and each person may be re-elected by the farmers.

The Plan
"The Plan" originated by the manager and his council, and adopted by the farmer is okayed by some regional officer (unidentified) with an allotment of production to the State at special prices.

The remainder is disposed of by the Collective governing body for the "pot."

A Day's Work
Everyone works on a "daily work unit" basis, and is paid accordingly. A "work unit" is ask, apparently agreed on by the Council and okayed by the meeting of the farmers.

Some earn more than a "unit" in one day, and anyone may. We were told that the year's pay for '62 was 3 kilos of wheat and 2 rubles per "work day unit." Cheese and vegetable were allowed in addition.

A kilo is 2.2 pounds; a ruble is approximately $1.10.

In addition each family may own 25 to 40 percent of a hectare of land to use for vegetables. A hectare is 2 and one-half acres.

Benefits
A home may be built on land and ALL land is government owned. All possessions, including home, may be left to heirs, on death.

Oldsters, at 60, may remain in leasehold and work. Onoman 85 is reported as working on the Stalin Collective.

Unable to work, older may receive a pension from the government.

Medical services are by the government, as are hospitals. Schooling is mandatory, and is free by the State.

Stalin Collection
The Stalin Collective was formerly six which joined to form one.

The Stalin farm has orchards of grapes, wheat, dairy and bee (dual purposes), animals, hogs, chickens, vegetables, cows, etc. Rainfall averages 22 to 25 inches.

A wheat combine and one tractor were seen on the farm and evidences of other small machines.

350 cows are milked by hand. Some sugar beets are also grown on this farm.

Lots of hay was seen in various stages of harvest up to 12 feet high and 20 feet long, and ten feet high to 20 feet long, and ten feet high to 20 feet long.

There is a good crop of children and we saw no indications of undernourishment. They were lively and just like American kids in appearance, the poorly dressed.

We went through one farmer's home that has three school-age children. Bed necessities, a television with one bedroom, one large room, apparently all-purpose space, with a front porch. The wood floors were scrubbed almost white.

A garden was in the rear with chickens and turkeys in the yard.

A new two-holer was out in the garden.

A Farmer's Feast

A feast served by the Collective with wine before, during and after, proved an outstanding event.

Some of our brave boys didn't survive in first-class shape trying to "bottoms-up" with the penish, handsome and persistent Farm Manager.

There was never a dull moment, what with his frequent toasts, and for a while exchange toasts, by the American representative.

The Manager displayed his English when our crowd ranted "Glory to Old Georgia," tracked a smile, and became one of the boys.

Our supper, served at nine o'clock, immediately upon our return to the hotel, found easily 30 percent not present.

Fewer were ready to promenade a few short blocks before bed.

This Georgia wine, when served in quart pitchers, frequently refilled from ten-gallon jugs, is slow and easy, but packs a wallop that seats many a stomach.

The Manager was seeing four or five men instead of the TWO who came to carry him home in a four-wheel drive Jeep-looking vehicle. He walked, but in various directions.

To avoid the reported insult of not "bottoms-up" during the toasting, I became very officious as the photographer.

The family had real expressions on their faces. The amazement at a polaroid picture presented to them was very interesting. Ball point pens, chewing gum and pictures of the American families were particularly enjoyed.

The custom of touching cheeks or kissing on the cheek was tried by some of the participants — the left cheek was raised by two inches to the left, the same with the right cheek and the exuberance of the friendly demonstration.

The food was good: the bread about 3 inches at one end, tapering in its twelve-inch length to a rounded narrow end; it was hard, but good.

We had peppers, kukes, whole potatoes, and tasty pickles, a heise bread cut in pie shape, and a highly seasoned chicken sausage — all you wanted. A tasty cheese was also on the table.

Two ladies and one man served the dinner in a growing garden, under trees.

Crop
My own opinion, added to by numerous others, is that the soil is fertile lying between two ridges. It is apparently well watered by gravity.

The orchards were planted in straight rows: the corn by a furrow-planter apparently pulled by a tractor driver who had an undetermined course, but a general direction, with frequent ideas of another course.

No corn field had plants of near-equal height; there are evidences of deficiencies in minerals in all fields. North Georgia farmers estimated various fields from 10 to 25 bushels per acre.

Apparently, the two agronomists who help the Manager didn't do a good job of testing and prescribing organic as well as inorganic fertilizers, or they weren't applied.

We were not permitted to see any cows close at hand, nor to visit the dairy barn.

The orchards looked fair; the vineyards very good, but other crops were better looking in the individual plots of less than an acre.

doctor, hospital and NO unemployment, is heaven to those who have never historically had any one of those things.

Georgia, USSR, is far above a home school for the kids. Moscow, USSR.

In Moscow a smile by folks on the street is a rarity; in this area it's easy to get a smile. I merely say "good morning" or make some comment.

We've seen fights and near fights on the street, but the folks fall into line immediately when an authority speaks.

We have run across French, American and parties from France. While poverty is apparent, reintegration is actual and accepted as the proper thing.

There is no unemployment — but there's from two to four workers for each job, by our own standards. They're inefficient, slow and apparently indifferent of the quantity and quality of work. "A milkman can strain two "day work units" by hand-milking 100 liters of milk "that's approximately 25 gallons."

These folks never had it so good!

A background of 40-odd invasions and secessions, war, starvation and no education for 20 centuries, make them think they are most fortunate.

16,000 Cancer Cases Expected In 1964

Because an estimated 16,000 new cancer cases will probably be detected among citizens throughout Florida during the next twelve months, the Florida Division of the American Cancer Society, and its County Units throughout the state, are urging the general public to get free copies of the leaflet "The Seven Danger Signals Everyone Should Know." The leaflet serves as a constant reminder to guard oneself. It is suggested that it be posted in medicine cabinets or at other convenient locations.

The leaflet points out that many persons die needlessly of cancer because they go to a doctor too late or not frequent enough for a thorough health checkup. It also lists and highlights certain indications or signs which should be watched if they occur. These include the following:

(1) Breast cancer, some early indications may be a lump, dimple or unusual thickening; (2) Uterine cancer, unusual bleeding or discharge; (3) colon, rectum, kidney, bladder, a change in bowel or bladder habits, sometimes accompanied by bleeding; (4) Lung, persistent cough or hoarseness or lingering respiratory ailment; (5) Stomach, larynx-indigestion difficulty in swallowing; (6) skin — sore that does not heal or change in wart or mole; (7) Prostate-urinary difficulty.

"Florida During The Civil War" By Gov. Johns, Just Released

Dr. John E. Johns, new business manager for Stetson University and acting chairman of the University's history and political science department, is the author of new book, "Florida During The Civil War," just released by the University of Florida Press.

The book tells the colorful story of Florida's role in the war. Its 13 chapters describe key episodes ranging from the secessionist movement to surrender and a preview of the bitter Reconstruction period.

The volume vividly recreates the seizure of Federal property, the raising of state troops, the grim struggle for Pensacola Bay and the blockades of the U. S. Navy.

Dr. Johns's history includes analyses of Florida's problems in financing state government under wartime tensions, of growing discontent with the war and subsequent desertion from the Confederate Armed Forces, and of the ingenuity and be announced. heroism of the women who struggled to run the plantations and provide for their families.

In addition to reproductions of rare maps, the text is supplemented by the scene sketches and photographs of battlefields as well as portraits of distinguished military and political figures.

The Stetson professor points out in his Civil War history how, to most Floridians secession seemed legal, logical and justified. The majority hailed the creation of the Confederacy.

When somber reflection replaced early elation over secession, Floridians at first maintain their faith in the ultimate triumph of the Confederate cause.

However civilian morale rapidly deteriorated as governmental services became dislocated, casualty lists increased in length, and the effect of the blockade became more severe.

This book has wide appeal for all readers interested in this vital era in Florida history.

Use Safety Cans For Gasoline

Tiny flames from pilot lights and even static electricity spark can ignite gasoline vapors, the National Board of Fire Underwriters cautions.

If small quantities of gasoline must be kept on hand for power lawn-mowers or outboard motors, use an approved safety can for storage. A thorough clean-up of cellar debris such as old newspapers and empty paint cans also can help to prevent fires, the National Board says.

INTERAMA WILL GENERATE 100,000 PERMANENT NEW JOBS IN FLORIDA

Creation of 100,000 new Florida jobs by 1967, through increase of tourism income by some $1 billion a year, will be riding on the outcome of a vote soon in Congress on extension of ARA, with a Florida amendment passed by the Senate in June under brilliant leadership of Senators Spencer Holland and George Smathers. Seminole Indian Offers Advice To His People As Old Days And Ways Are Replaced By The New Fewer and fewer Seminole clans are to be seen along road 70 at Brighton reservation as modern new homes on individual sites are being built for many of the Indian families.

In marked contrast to the old clan living in chicken near the road, are the new homes replacing one or more of the thatched shelters. Others have added a house trailer, but the old chicken home that has served for many years is still in use.

Dick Bowers, a government employee, is one of those providing a new three bedroom home for his family of six children. The Bowers moved to the Brighton reservation from Holly wood in 1957. The younger children have been attending school in Okeechobee.

Chief Oseola, affectionately called "Billy" by young members of the Bowers family reportedly "lives down the road alone."

OLD DAYS AND WAYS

Jas. Hardy Attends Cattlemen School

James E. Hardy of 433 S. E. 4th St., Belle Glade, Fla., enrolled as a student in the Graham School for Cattlemen (Beef and Dairy), Garnett, Kansas, for a week of intensive training in artificial insemination of cattle and in herd management.

Classes are held the second full week of each month. All students are given individual help and instructions and are provided opportunities to work with live animals and learn carcasses under the supervision of instructors who have had many years of experience and training with cattle.

Since cattlemen come from all parts of the United States, Hardy will have many opportunities for an exchange of ideas relating to all phases of the cattle business.

TRIBAL LAW AND ORDER

My friends, I would like to write a few articles about the Seminole Indian Community I was brought up in 40-60 years ago. There have been many changes . . . some good . . . and some bad . . .

While I still live I would like to pass on the best of the old ways and traditions of our proud Seminole people. I want our young people to know the ways of their Tribe. I hope some of the older Seminole people will do this too, for once some of those true ways of our people are gone . . . we will not be Seminole any more.

If we are going to lose the ways of our people we should do it by understanding and choice . . . not by turning our backs on everything just because it is old.

One of the traditions of our people is to go by clans. Those clans have names given to us by our animal brothers. Some of the clan names are: Bear, Deer, Snake, Alligator, Raven, etc. My clan is the Panther; my wife's clan is the Bird. Our children take their names from their mother, so all of my children are members of the Bird Clan.

In the old days the elders were held in great respect. The elders set the Clan Rules for our behavior. This was called "Ah Haha Ah Choke," which means the "Rule of Elders" and this is the way we kept a moral standard.

If a Seminole broke the Clan law the Elders held a council to decide his case. Sometimes the offender was "let off" with a warning, and sometimes they were to be punished. Some of the things that were against the "Rules of Elders" were: Drunkenness, divorce, stealing, disrespect for elders, marrying within their own Clan and fighting other Clans.

The Elders held their Council (court) at their yearly Green Corn Dance, which was held for Brighton in July. This was the only time for the Clan Elders to hear the cases. For example, if a Seminole hurt someone in the winter he would not be tried until the regular Green Corn Dance in July.

The Court of Elders at the Green Corn Dance would say either "You are guilty," or "You are not guilty." If the offender was pronounced guilty he was sent with his tribal "Ar Haar" (Indian Deputy) to the punishers. The punishers were responsible for improving his behavior. It was considered dishonorable not to appear at the Green Corn Dance for hearing. There was no bond for any crime. I never knew of a Seminole running away from his trial. If a Seminole was supposed to come to court, he came . . . even when he knew he would be punished.

After the offender was sent by the "Ar Haar" to the punishers they would tie him up in a hammock with no clothes, food or water. All of this time the punishers would counsel with the offender in order to improve his behavior. Each would rotate about every three or four hours so that the prisoner got a constant stream of advice, so the punishers became his counselors. The exact time of the punishment was left up to the counselors. If they felt that the advice was getting through and the offender had learned his lesson he was let off in two days. If the offender refused to listen or talked back to the counselors he was given another day for each time.

"WE THINK WE'LL LIKE OUR NEW HOME" Bobby Lou (right center) informed. Bobby Lou, who has been attending Okeechobee School, will go to Moore Haven this year as a freshman. Mother Mary (left), who instructed the young girl to answer any questions stepped cleaning in the yard to pose with her family for this picture in front of the new home. Richard 8, is the youngest in the family, and Rachel, 24 (right) who apparently spoke no English, is next to the oldest. Father Dick was at work on his government job.

THE OLD FOR THE NEW — This modern three-bedroom CES home is near completion for the Dick Bowers family of six. Seminole Indians living on Brighton reservation. The home occupies a site where one of the family "chickens" stood. A second chicken at left is retained and still used by the Bowers.

Today our jails do not seem to make better people. The same people are often sent back to jail over and over again for doing the same thing. In the old days I never knew a man who sent though a Green Corn Dance Court and punishment that ever went wrong again.

Suggestions For Weight Watchers

Miss Mary Todd, Home Demonstration Agent, gives the following suggestions for weight watchers:

Use non-fat, dry milk solids for cooking.

Keep desserts simple. Serve fresh fruit or canned and frozen fruits.

Roast or oven or pan-broiled meats, poultry and fish instead of frying in fat. Avoid "breading" and use of egg batters on foods. Trim extra fat from the meat.

Serve salad materials plain or use low-calorie seasonings or salad dressings. These can be made with tomato juice, herbs, and lemon juice or vinegar.

Tempt appetites with herbs and spices instead of rich seasonings, sauces and gravies.

Prepare food without added fat, sugar, or flour whenever possible.

Serve low-calorie items for nibbling and appetizers: celery, cabbage wedges, carrot sticks, or other low-calorie vegetables or fruits. Avoid high fat foods such as cream, butter, gravies, sauces, nuts, potato chips, oil, pastries, rich salad dressing, sweet foods such as cakes and cookies, rich puddings, candies, fountain drinks and sundaes, carbonated drinks; and starchy foods, such as macaroni, dry peas and beans.
